

Call for Proposals for the 34th (2019) Annual Conference of SIETAR Japan
Theme: “Promoting Gender Equity through Education, Training, and Research: Examining Masculinity and Male Privilege”
November 9- 10, 2019 at Sophia University, Tokyo, Japan

SIETAR Japan will hold its Annual Conference on November 9 (Saturday)- November 10 (Sunday) 2019 at Sophia University, Yotsuya Campus, Tokyo, Japan. We are seeking proposals that are related to the field of intercultural communications and/or reflect the conference theme. We look forward to receiving your submissions.

Conference Director: Makiko Deguchi (Sophia University)

For members of SIETAR Japan: Proposals must be submitted digitally via our website which requires you to input your 8-digit membership number indicated on your address label on envelopes from SIETAR. If you cannot locate your Membership Number, please contact office@sietar-japan.org.

1. The name of the first presenter (for group presentations, list the names of all the presenters in addition to the first presenter)
2. Affiliation (for group presentations, list the affiliations of all the presenters)
3. Contact address, telephone number, and e-mail address (for the first presenter only)
4. Title of presentation (the title should be in the language of presentation. Please note that the title cannot be changed after submission.)
5. Types of presentations
 - a. Research presentation (30 min.)
Submissions are reviewed based on whether the topic is appropriate for the conference/theme, and whether the objective, rationale, methodology, and conclusion are clearly stated.
 - b. Report on practice and activities (30 min.)
Submissions are reviewed based on whether practices and/or pedagogical activities related to intercultural communication and other topics.
 - c. Workshop (110 min.)
Submissions are reviewed based on whether the workshop provides experiential learning for acquiring problem-solving and other intercultural skills. Presenters will be expected to play the role of facilitator.
 - d. Poster presentation (non-members eligible if recommended by a SIETAR member)
Submissions are reviewed based on whether the research topic is related to intercultural communication and whether appropriately explained.

*Please note that in addition to content, spelling and grammatical errors, sentences that lack clarity, coherence, or logic will also be subject to evaluation.

Note: (1) First presenters (for presentations a through d) can only present as first presenters once during the conference. (2) You may not request a specific time and day for your presentation. (3) We may ask you to change the type of your presentation (for example, from a to b) as a result of the review. Furthermore, we will not disclose reasons for acceptance or rejection of your submission.
